

Undergraduate Research Opportunity

PROJECT

Re-Membering the Maternal Goddess: Rastafari Woman's

Intellectual History & Activism in the Pan-African World

Prof. Shamara Alhassan

Religious Studies

Hours required p/week: 12
Credits anticipated: 4

For this project, “Re-Membering the Maternal Goddess: Rastafari Woman's Intellectual History and Activism in the Pan-African World” students will assist Dr. Alhassan in collecting data pertaining to Rastafari women's experiences and philosophies in Africa and the African Diaspora for an ethnographic book establishing Rastafari Woman's Studies as critical for thinking about imagining and building new futures.

ONLINE

STUDENT

Research assistant's duties:

The student will utilize Zotero in order to perform bibliographic data entry as well as complete archival research.

Required skills or qualifications:

Attention to detail; familiar with English, Twi, Jamaican, and/or Lyaric languages.

Skills student will acquire:

Ability to use resources to search for relevant titles and create a bibliographic list by theme and complete archival research.