Undergraduate Research Opportunity

PROJECT

Explosives in late 19th and early 20th century East and Southeast Asia
Prof. Linh Vu
History

I’m starting a new research project on the manufacture, transportation, and use of explosives mainly for terrorist attacks.

Research assistant’s duties:
Student will read through newspaper reports and compile and summarize these incidents. If they could do data analysis, it would be a plus.

Required skills or qualifications:
Research can be done in English and/or Chinese/Japanese/Korea/Vietnamese and others used in East and Southeast Asia in 19th/20th century.

Skills student will acquire:
Doing archival research, summarize materials, and analyze data.